

Job Interest Assessment (higher level)

Candidate report

14/08/2018

Indira Ghandi

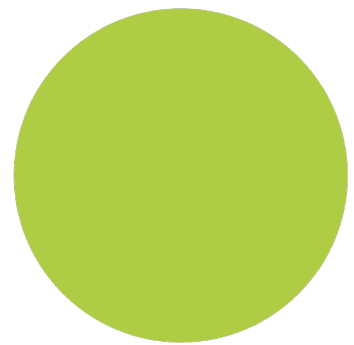

Table of contents

Introduction	3
Meaning of scores	4
Personal interests	5
Activities	7
Conclusion	8

Introduction

The Job Interest Assessment indicates what sectors and activities someone is interested in and has a preference for. The assessment has been built on both the matching approach in which the interest in certain professional sectors is measured and the interactional approach where the interest for certain activities plays a larger role. The given suggestions are not intended to be exhaustive but are here to inspire the candidate to start looking for more relevant professions.

Meaning of scores

The responses to the questions are compared to a norm group and converted to a 9 point standard scale with a mean of 5 and a standard deviation of 2 (stanine).

The underlying basis for obtaining a stanine (an abbreviation for Standard Nine) is that a normal distribution is divided into nine intervals. The mean lies approximately in the centre of the fifth interval and it has a standard deviation of two. Test scores are interpreted and scaled to stanine as shown in the table below.

Stanine	Class size	Description
1	4%	Very low
2	7%	Low
3	12%	Low
4	17%	Average
5	20%	Average
6	17%	Average
7	12%	High
8	7%	High
9	4%	Very high

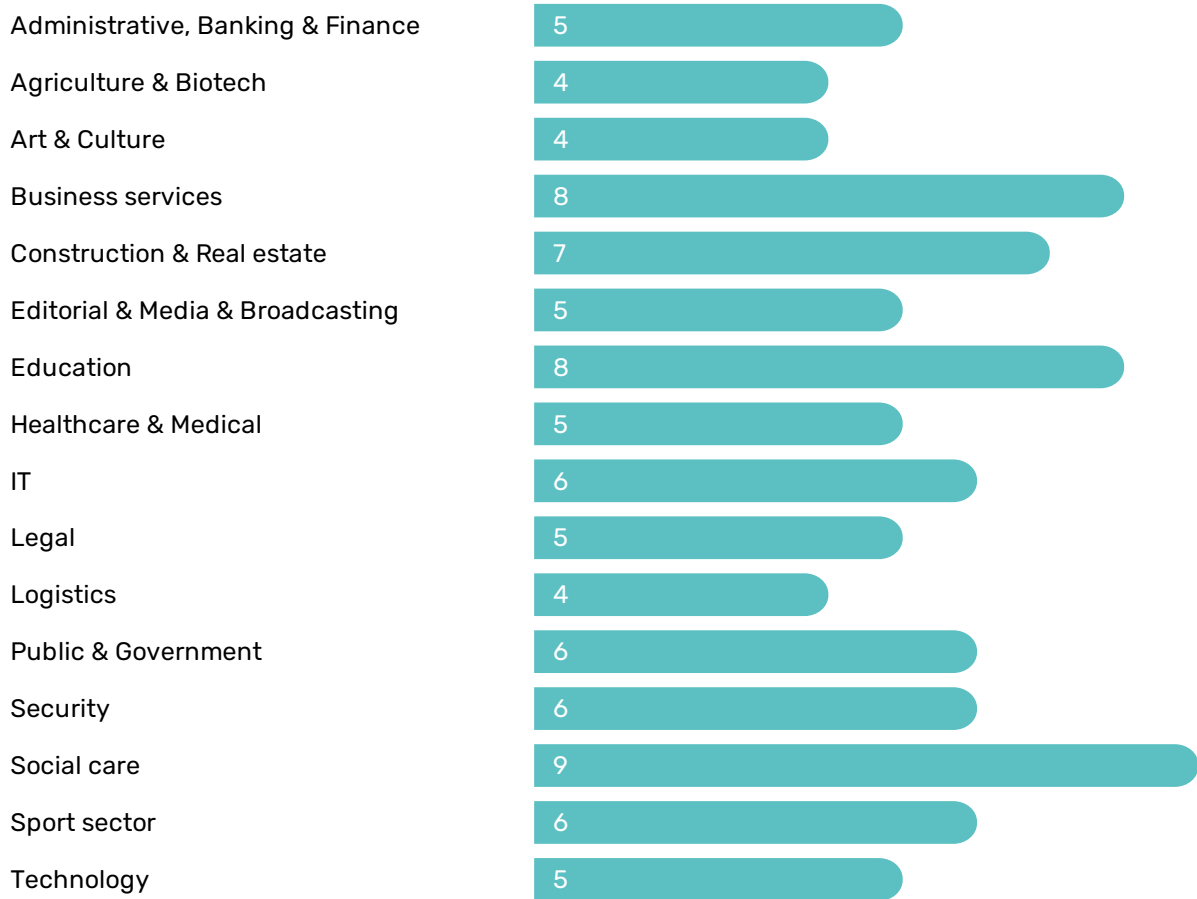

Personal interests

In addition to the professional sectors and activities in which you have the most interest, an assessment of the professional sectors and activities in which you have the least interest has been made. Based on this, the following conclusions can be drawn:

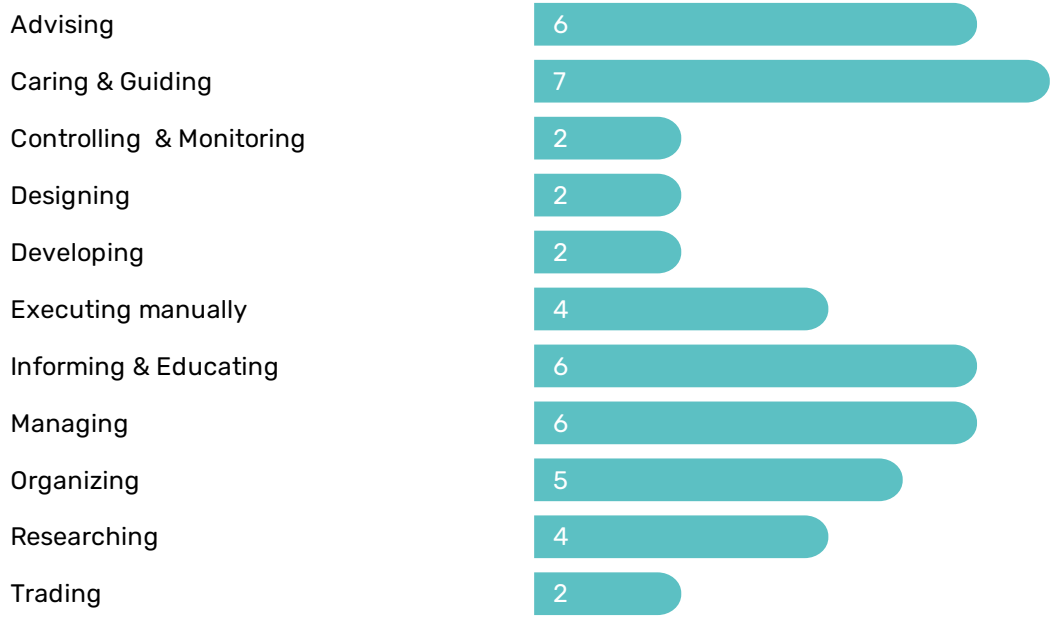

You have a lot of interest in social care. Work in this direction is related to the social well-being and mental health of people in general. Also guiding, helping and assisting (groups of) people with social problems. Examples of occupations in this sector are psychologist, student counselor, social worker, child psychologist, counselor or social cultural worker. Your score on this sector is a Additionally you have a lot of interest in education. This sector relates to the transfer of knowledge and skills by teaching children and/or adults. Examples of occupations in this sector are teacher, educator, lecturer, course coordinator and counselor. Your score on this sector is a Finally you have a lot of interest in working in the business services sector. Work in this sector relates to the provision of services and support to organizations, such as to companies, governments and non-profit organizations. Examples of occupations in this direction are organizational consultant, interim manager and market researcher. Your score on this sector is a

An assessment of the types of work that appeal to you the most has also been conducted. This assessment shows that you are interested in caring for others and guiding them. You mainly like to provide help to people who need more support. It also appears from your assessment that you are interested in advising others. This mainly has to do with giving your opinion from your expertise.

In addition to the professional sectors and activities in which you have the most interest, an assessment of the professional sectors and activities in which you have the least interest has been made. Based on this, the following conclusions can be drawn: You have little interest in logistics. The work in this sector relates to organizing, transporting and / or getting goods, vehicles and persons at their destination. Examples of occupations in this sector are forwarder, air traffic manager, transportation planner, warehouse manager and logistics manager. Your score on this sector is a Additionally you have little interest in agriculture and biotech. Work in this sector relates to the natural environment such as soil and nature management, agriculture and livestock. Examples of occupations in this sector are vet, environmental engineer, geologist, veterinarian, environmental manager, landscaper and environmental educator. Your score on this sector is a Finally you have little interest in de art and culture. Activities in this sector are mainly related to culture, business and artistic forms of art. Examples of occupations in this sector are actor, theater scholar, artist, critic, editor, set designer and writer. Your score on this sector is a We advise you to spend less energy on these directions and activities in making your career choices.

Activities

Conclusion